Important Information

- Foundation China Equity Fund (the "Fund") primarily invests in listed equities with a substantial exposure to Greater China.
- The Fund focuses its investments in China-related equity securities, which involve certain risks not typically associated with investment in more developed markets, such as greater political, tax, economic, foreign exchange, liquidity and regulatory risks. The Fund is likely to be more volatile than broad-based global investments, as the Fund is more susceptible to fluctuations in value resulting from limited number of holdings or from unfavourable performance in such equity securities that the Fund invests in.
- The Fund may invest in financial derivative instruments ("FDI") for hedging purposes only, which may expose to higher leverage, counterparty, liquidity, valuation, volatility, market and over the counter transaction risks.
- The Fund's investments may be denominated in RMB. RMB is currently not a freely convertible currency and is subject to foreign exchange control policies, as well as repatriation restrictions imposed by the PRC government. Investors whose base currencies of investments are not in RMB should take into account the potential risk of loss arising from fluctuations in value between such currencies and the RMB.
- This investment may involve risks that could result in loss of part or entire amount of investors' investment.
- In making investment decisions, investors should not rely solely on this material. Please read the explanatory memorandum for details and risk factors.

Investment Objective

Foundation China Equity Fund (the "Fund") aims to maintain a consistent value-investing approach with a focus on liquidity and high return by primarily investing in equities issued by companies that are incorporated in China or companies which have significant operations in or derive a significant portion of revenue or profits from China.

The Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing primarily (at least 70% of the Fund's Net Asset Value) in equity securities listed in the Hong Kong and China markets. The Fund may invest in aggregate up to 50% in A-shares and B-shares listed in Shanghai and/or Shenzhen. The Fund may temporarily include cash and cash equivalents, up to 100% of its Net Asset Value under exceptional market conditions.

Fund Information

Fund Manager's Report<sup>3</sup>

The Fund experienced an decrease of 1.6% in December. Year-to-date, the Fund has achieved a solid 6.9% increase. Meanwhile, the Hang Seng Index (HSI) rose by 17.7%, and the CSI 300 rose by 14.7%, with all figures denominated in USD.

In December, the Manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) was 50.5, marking growth for three consecutive months. However, the external economic environment remains sluggish, leading to a slowdown in growth. The Services PMI rose to 52.2 month-on-month, with increased demand primarily driven by domestic consumption. The sustainability and effectiveness of previous policy stimulus effects still require further observation.

The market saw some growth at the beginning of the month, followed by a continuous decline. This was mainly due to a weakening of market optimism and a decrease in expectations regarding policies. In December, exports are expected to grow by 7.3% year-on-year. Thanks to the strategic hedging positions of our fund, our long-term performance has outpaced the market. We remain confident that careful company selection and hedging will yield solid absolute returns. As the current valuation of MSCI China at an attractively low forward P/E in the high single digits—distinctly lower than the S&P 500's high teens to low-20s valuations—and MSCI China's anticipated higher EPS growth for the next year compared to the S&P 500, our team is leaning towards a more bullish outlook on China relative to the US for 2024.

The Fund's steadfast commitment to core holdings, flexible position control, and value-investing principles will help us navigate market volatility. It allows us to focus on the potential for mid to long-term outperformance offered by the 'Foundation Model'.
